This is an unusual listing. This plot of land was bought some years ago with a licience to build. unfortunatley the purchaser did not realise that permissions have a time limit. the licience has now expired and the present owner has not started the process of applying to have the licience extended. In therory this should not be a problem but we are in spain. I think realistically in 5-7 years it should be resolved. this is the reason why thi...
